

TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

I am pleased to write this letter for Gautam Gattamaneni, who has been a regular volunteer at our hospital, the Rainbow Children's Hospital since June 2021. We offer paediatrics multi-speciality and super- speciality services. Our paediatric hospitals have an advanced cardiovascular unit, an oncology facility, Neonatal intensive Care Units and Paediatric intensive Care Units, which are fully equipped to tend to all emergencies round-the-clock.

Gautam is known to us as an empathetic and kind-hearted individual who munificently devotes his time and energy to unwell children including cancer patients. Despite being swamped with school work, Gautam began as a volunteer with us and has since then demonstrated his commitment to the children. He has contributed with his caring nature and excellent interpersonal and listening skills. I have observed him while he regaled the affected children with funny stories to put them at ease during their treatment or hospitalization. This reflects his compassionate nature.

Gautam also has a strong sense of responsibility. Over the past few years, along with his family, Gautam has regularly visited the hospital, effectively connecting with patients from diverse backgrounds. Throughout his engagement with us, he would read to cancer patients, exemplary communication skills creating a positive atmosphere in the wards.

Besides interacting with patients, Gautam actively engaged in hospital initiatives in the premature children department collaborating seamlessly with our medical staff. His reliability, punctuality, and willingness to extend his assistance are commendable. In my observation, Gautam is kind and patient and as a considerate human, whose motive is to ease the pain and anxiety of the sick. A sincere and well brought up boy, he willingly dedicates his time and efforts to serve this cause. Hence, I wholeheartedly recommend him to the program he intends to pursue in your university with the confidence that he will continue his good work wherever he goes. I would like to wish him the very best.

Yours sincerely,
